

SHARING A SLICE OF OUR HISTORY

When Providence Heights—our motherhouse—was built in 1927, it was surrounded by apple orchards. Today, the orchards no longer exist, but our memories of harvesting apples and transporting them to market in wooden crates live on. We welcome you to share in our history with a Sisters of Divine Providence Wooden Apple Crate (17.75”L x14.75” W x12”H)—available for a suggested contribution of $100 (each).

Sister Rose Michele Sieber (pictured, above left) recalls thinking, “Ah, what a relief. The end of another successful ‘apple picking day!’”

Sister Patricia Ann Moffett (pictured, above right) recalls, “Every fall was apple picking time. Although it was work, it also was fun. It was a day outside in God’s beautiful nature.”
